Notes

This report should be used by you, your line managers and your employers for information only. It is in no way intended to be a statement or evidence of your actual skills, knowledge or competence, but rather it outlines your own current perception of your skills, knowledge and competence. It is based entirely on self-appraisal data drawn from your responses to the Professional Development Review online questionnaire. It is the user’s responsibility to ensure that the information, advice or other content are suitable for their purposes and are used appropriately in their context. NAPTA and its partners cannot be held in any way responsible for any actions taken by any party or any inaction or any consequences that may arise following receipt of a Professional Development Review report or of any related guidance or advice.

The term ‘teaching and learning support staff member’ is used throughout this report to denote any individual who works with teachers in classrooms, supporting the learning process. It is implied, therefore, that it covers a number of job titles including teaching assistant, classroom assistant, learning support assistant and special needs assistant.

About NAPTA

The National Association of Professional Teaching Assistants (NAPTA) has been established to recognise the expanding role that all support staff are playing in schools. NAPTA supports these individuals by providing professional development opportunities, acting as an information service, and helping to assess and document their existing skills and training needs.

Introduction

This report provides a breakdown of the skills and confidence that you perceive yourself to have. It also provides information about the specific tasks that you feel you perform as part of your job role. It offers valuable indicators about how your perceived skills correspond to the National Occupational Standards for Supporting Teaching and Learning in Schools (NOS STL), and gives helpful pointers to areas in which you might benefit from professional development or additional support. It is based entirely on self-appraisal data drawn from your responses to the Professional Development Review online questionnaire.

If you intend to complete an NVQ/SVQ for Supporting Teaching and Learning in Schools (NVQ/SVQ STL), this report will give an indication as to the areas of the qualification upon which it would be most beneficial for you to concentrate.

If you are considering applying for higher level teaching assistant (HLTA) status, the report outlines how your perceived skills match those that underpin the requirements of the Professional Standards for HLTAs.

The report also suggests tasks that you might be well placed to undertake, and maps your perceived skills and confidence to the following additional training and professional development opportunities:

- Literacy and numeracy programmes
- Core support staff skills
- Personal ICT skills.

For further information about these potential opportunities, you should speak to your CPD manager, line manager or headteacher.

It should be noted that all of the data contained in this report is based upon your subjective evaluation of your role and skills, and would need to be verified by a qualified assessor before being used as evidence towards an NVQ/SVQ. Full guidance on assessment for the NVQ/SVQ STL is available from the awarding bodies. HLTA status is assessed by your own school leadership team.

Your data was submitted on 27th June 2018.
The report is divided into the following sections:

- Introduction
- National Occupational Standards – An indication of which National Occupational Standards, and hence which Level 2 and Level 3 NVQ/SVQ units, you consider yourself able to meet, and which may require further professional development or additional support. This section provides you with a learning pathway where you can see which of the Level 2 and Level 3 NVQ/SVQ mandatory and optional units you could most easily meet. It also shows which units you feel currently relate to your specific role in the school.
- Professional Standards for HLTAs – An indication of whether you consider yourself to have the skills, knowledge and experience which underpin the HLTA Professional Standards. This may help to highlight areas in which you would most benefit from further professional development.
- Common tasks – Tasks that you may be able to undertake, and which may require further professional development.
- Additional training and CPD – Additional training and professional development opportunities that you might benefit from undertaking.
- Record of Perceived Professional Competences – A summary of your perceived NOS STL competences. Your perceived competences relating to the Professional Standards for HLTAs are not mentioned here, since they should be considered as a single skill set rather than individual capabilities. You might wish to ask your headteacher to sign your record to validate that your perceived skills are a true reflection of your actual skills.

Some items throughout the report are presented in colour, as follows:

Confidence
- Green indicates areas of confidence.
- Amber shows areas of partial confidence, where some aspects may need support.
- Red implies areas where you are lacking in confidence, and may require further professional development or additional support.

Relevance
- A solid item indicates areas that you feel are relevant to your job role.
- A shaded item denotes that you feel that some but not all major aspects of an area are relevant.
  - A white item shows areas that you feel are not relevant.

Where they are shown side by side, level of confidence is shown on the left and level of relevance is shown on the right. Should you wish to copy or print the report, you will need to do so in colour to appreciate it fully.
This section provides an indication of how your perceived skills correspond to the National Occupational Standards for Supporting Teaching and Learning in Schools (NOS STL), and hence the Level 2 and Level 3 NVQ/SVQ STL units. It highlights the extent to which you meet the requirements of the National Occupational Standards, and where you may require further professional development or additional support. It also shows which units you feel currently relate to your specific role in the school.

In order to help you make a decision as to which NVQ/SVQ units to choose if you want to complete an NVQ/SVQ, the tables on pages 4 to 7 show the National Occupational Standards within the NVQ/SVQ structure.

For each unit, you are shown the category that you fall into for that unit for both confidence and relevance.

When considering which NVQ/SVQ units you want to work on, you will need to look at a number of factors, including:

- your training and development needs
- your preferences and areas of interest
- your career aspirations
- the units that will be of most use in your school
- the units that you will be able to create further evidence for, where required
- the units that you will be able to receive professional development in, where it is needed.

You may, however, also wish to consider a ‘path of least resistance’. This involves choosing the optional units that would seem to enable you to meet the requirements of the NVQ/SVQ most easily. To follow your path of least resistance, you would need to choose optional units from those that have a green circle next to them, whilst at the same time ensuring that you comply with any rules governing the choice of optional units. If this does not give you enough units to meet the requirements, you should then choose optional units from those that have an amber circle next to them.

Bear in mind that, for any units that you can do but are not currently required to as part of your specific role in the school, ie units that do not have a solid blue circle next to them, you would need to create additional evidence.
Level 2 NVQ Mandatory units

1. Provide support for learning activities
2. Support children’s development
3. Help to keep children safe
4. Contribute to positive relationships
5. Provide effective support for your colleagues

Level 2 NVQ Optional units

Professional Standards for HLTAs

This section indicates whether you consider yourself to have the skills, knowledge and experience which underpin the higher level teaching assistant (HLTA) Professional Standards, and hence the extent to which you meet the requirements of the standards. This will highlight areas in which you may most benefit from further professional development, especially if you wish to progress to HLTA status. It also shows which standards you feel currently relate to your specific role in the school.

In order to gain HLTA status, you must be able to demonstrate competence in all of the Professional Standards.

For each Professional Standard, you are shown the category that you fall into for that standard for both confidence and relevance.

Bear in mind that, for any standards that you can do but are not currently required to as part of your specific role in the school, ie standards that do not have a solid blue circle next to them, you would need to create additional evidence.

Common tasks

This section shows common tasks which you may be able to undertake, and which may require further professional development. The tasks may already form a part of your existing job role, or you may be able to take the tasks on. You are shown how well suited you would be to performing each task, according to your responses to the Professional Development Review online questionnaire, ie you are shown the category that you fall into for that task for confidence.

The list of tasks is taken from the 22 tasks originally listed in the National Workload Agreement (2003).

Additional training and CPD

This section shows which additional training and CPD opportunities you might benefit from undertaking. For each opportunity, you are shown the category that you fall into for confidence in the underlying skills relating to that opportunity, according to your responses to the Professional Development Review online questionnaire. If you appear as red for an opportunity, you may find training/professional development worthwhile in that area. If you appear as green for an opportunity, you may be ready to undertake a qualification or take on a role relating to that area.

For further information about these potential opportunities, you should speak to your CPD manager, line manager or headteacher.
